

Actions are mirrors of our values and core principles

Opening eyes - widening horizons, seeing things as they really are and responding wisely; recognising the inherent worth of all; empowering, offering opportunity

Hearing all voices - treating all with dignity and respect, recognising the inherent worth of all; focus on those voices that are unheard (e.g. vulnerable members of the school community), seeing the value of collaboration

Pride in who we are, excitement about who we could be

In our caring church school community our actions are mirrors of our Christian values.

Through every element of the life of our school:

We seek to open eyes by seeing each person's inherent worth, responding wisely to our context and widening our horizons so that each person feels hopeful and empowered.

We strive to hear everyone's voice so that we all know we will be treated with dignity and respect, that our collaborative relationships will enable us to flourish and that we can make a positive difference in the world.

We have pride in who we are and excitement about who we could be.
